Contest Rules

- I understand that each week the Contest will be posted in the Community at a scheduled time for each of the games
- I understand the Contest submission deadline and channel details will be on the contest for that day
- I understand that there would be no more than 3 survey questions that I would need to answer as part of each the contest submission
- I understand that there will be one winner a week per contest, chosen via raffle of the correctly submitted responses, for the Weekly Contest who will receive a gift of value no more than $10
- I understand that the winner details will be posted in the Community or other avenues owned by Organizers at a scheduled time
- I understand if I am the winner, my details will be posted in the following format to ensure authenticity for the Organizers. I do not have a choice to ask for anonymity
 - Full Name, Zip Code
- I understand that in order to be considered for the winner raffle, I need to complete all of the following
 - Solve the puzzle correctly and/or complete the contest activity
 - Answer the survey questions
 - Submit my response before deadline
 - Submit via the web channel
- I understand that if my name gets picked as a winner from the raffle, I will have 2 hours to reach out to the Admin to provide additional details to confirm my ID and any other details so that they can mail my prize
- I understand that if I don't respond back to the Admin with the additional details, whether by choice or negligence on my part or any other reason (technical, personal etc.), I forfeit the prize and the Admin is free to choose another winner selected and bound by the same rules
- I understand that if both winners don't respond for a specific contest then there would be no winner for that week
- I understand that there is a possibility a planned or unplanned break(s) on any day when the Admin was unable to post the contest for that day(s) and/or week(s)
